Healthmark Introduces New Bamboo Wicked Wear

Fraser, MI, September 28th, 2015 - Healthmark Industries has announced the addition of the Bamboo Wicked Wear to its personal protective equipment (PPE) line. Made of antibacterial bamboo fiber, this premium apparel is designed for exceptional moisture absorption. The material is expandable and quickly evaporates human sweat by pulling moisture away from the skin.

Bamboo Wicked Wear is hypoallergenic, UV resistant and moth proof. Developed from natural bamboo, the silky-smooth fabric of these garments have numerous microscopic holes that allow maximal ventilation and temperatures 1-2° lower than traditional summer clothing. Due to the efficient antibacterial benefits of bamboo fiber being a natural deodorant, approximately 95% of bacteria will be expunged from the bamboo fibers after a 24 hour period. Bamboo fiber is an environmentally friendly renewable resource.
